* The scale of hardness classifies various mineralogical materials from level 10 (extremely hard, e.g. diamond) to level 1 (soft, e.g. talc). The listed abrazo products are level 4 on this scale of hardness, therefore they are fairly gentle on surfaces and cannot damage materials that are harder (e.g. glass – level 6). Regular sponge scourers containing corundum on their scouring side are level 9 on this scale of hardness (just below diamond) and as a result they can scratch most standard kitchen surfaces.
